AD Starr shines for another 4 years as the Official Baseball of the NCBA

March 4, 2008

The National Club Baseball Association is excited to announce that a contract extension has been reached with AD STARR as the “Official Baseball of the NCBA” through the 2012 season. This agreement secures AD Starr as the only baseball ever to have been legal for play during NCBA sanctioned competition. Over the previous eight years, AD STARR has continued to build their brand name by supplying the Official NCBA Baseball, while also supplying several other baseball organizations such as American Legion Baseball, Cal Ripken Baseball, and USSSA Baseball.

All teams holding membership in the NCBA will receive 5-dozen Official NCBA Baseballs stamped with the NCBA logo for use during their regular season games. Teams can purchase additional game balls (AD600NCBA) at $37.95 per dozen plus shipping as well as practice baseballs (AD100PB) for $19.50 per dozen. Teams will need to contact AD STARR to confirm their delivery address in order to receive their 5-dozen NCBA game balls. Game balls for each NCBA season, will be available for delivery beginning September 1st.

AD STARR President David Kalla had this to say about the agreement, “AD STARR is proud to be part of the National Club Baseball Association. The NCBA has shown tremendous growth over the past 8 years and we look forward to growing the next 4 years with the NCBA. The NCBA has really created a new dimension in the club sports area at colleges and universities with offering spring training events and a playoff system that gives all of the NCBA teams an opportunity to reach the NCBA World Series.”

After finalizing the deal, NCBA President Sandy Sanderson stated, “The NCBA has always been about building and maintaining relationships with our teams, our players, our fans, and our sponsors. Both AD STARR and the NCBA have experienced tremendous growth and success since originally teaming up back in 2000, and I’m excited that both parties were able to reach a win-win agreement to continue our close knit relationship for several years to come.”

Teams can contact Denny with AD STARR at 1-800-ITS-A-HIT (487-2448) to confirm their delivery address and to order additional game or practice baseballs. To view all of AD STARR’s products please visit www.adstarr.com.
