

Name: Dan Iavarone

Affiliation with NCBA:

President of Tulane Club Baseball

Years involved with NCBA and in what capacity:

4-year player, President of the Organization for Junior and Senior Year

Baseball Experience:

I've been playing the greatest game ever invented since I was 4-years old. I was a 3-year Varsity starter at South Side High School in Rockville Centre, NY. After considering collegiate options at several small Division 3 schools, I decided to attend Tulane University and join the Tulane Club Baseball Team. I've been a starter all 4 years and earned 1st Team All-American my Junior year. I plan on continuing my baseball Career through men's leagues playing every Sunday in Central Park in New York City.

Why would you make a good NCBA Division I Rules Committee Representative?

Because participating in the NCBA has been so influential in my life and I will make the most of any opportunity to give back. I have spent the past two years as President enjoying the logistical side of working with the NCBA. I have even reached out to Ryan Norris about continuing my involvement with the NCBA after I graduate, and this position will be my first step in doing so.

Additional Comments:

I really hope I am strongly considered for the position. Four years with the NCBA has not been enough and I am looking for any way to continue being involved post-graduation.
